AVK STREET COVERS – NEW DESIGN

During the past year, AVK International has made the package of valves and accessories more complete and adapted to the different marked requirements. As part of this work, we expanded our range of street covers and are now in a position where we can cover most of the market requirements.

This new range of street covers is designed particularly for our telescopic extension spindles for a perfect fit. Together with the comprehensive range of valves we are offering the best possible solution.

Please find attached two datasheets for the new street covers. You will find that the composite street cover is now available in a round and square flange with either round or square lid. The same applies for the complete ductile iron street cover.

Prices and delivery to be informed on request by the AVK logistics department.
